

Apache: How do I import my Squirrelmail address book into Roundcube?

If you are switching over to Roundcube Webmail from our standard webmail interface (called Squirrelmail) and want to copy your address book from one system to another, follow these steps:

1. Log into our standard Webmail interface.
2. Click on the 'Addresses' link.
3. Scroll down and click on the button 'Export to CSV File' to save a copy of the address book to your local computer.
4. After you have saved the file, open the .csv file with a text editor such as Notepad or Text Edit.
5. Highlight the contents of the file and copy them to your computer's clipboard, by choosing 'Edit' then 'Copy'.
6. Visit <http://homepage.mac.com/phrogz/CSV2vCardv2.html> in your favorite web browser, and paste in the data you just copied from the .csv file.
7. Click the 'Step 2' tab, and re-define any fields that weren't automatically detected.
8. Once all the fields are configured as desired, click the "Step 3" tab. Now, you can highlight and copy all of the text in this tab into the 'Roundcube' webmail system at beta-webmail.modwest.com

Congratulations! You've just migrated your address book from one webmail system to another.

Unique solution ID: #1009

Author: Heather Masterson

Last update: 2010-08-16 09:10